INTRODUCTION.

It seems such a simple every-day matter to attach a small bit of adhesive printed paper to a letter, to drop it into a box, to have it delivered with despatch at its address many miles away, that few persons ever inquire into the processes by which this is accomplished. That small bit of paper is, however, at once the monument of a great reform in the administration and policy of one branch of government, and at the same time one of the most potent agents of its success. For the Post Office is no modern institution; it has both an ancient and a modern history. From being, under the old system, a luxury cumbersome, expensive, and almost worthless, under the new it has become an every-day comfort and necessity, active, economic, and full of civilizing force. Modern research has discovered suggestions of cheap postage and the postage stamp, even traces of their employment by individual enterprise, long prior to the adoption of the system by the English government; yet they have always gone hand in hand. The true history of the new era, beginning with the appearance of Rowland Hill's pamphlet in 1837, follows the subsequent discussion of the subject of Cheap Postage and Postal Reform by the press and public of England, to the final inauguration of the new system in January, 1840, and its rapid spread since then over the civilized world.

This history has, however, received little attention, and must be gathered mostly from scattered minutes in governmental records and occasional articles in the periodic press. That would be an interesting and profitable investigation which should not only trace the influence on the commerce and history of the world, but estimate also the effect on its civilization and private life, of a system which sends no unwelcome messengers from counting-house to counting-house, from home to home, and even into the most private escritoire of the maiden. Indeed, circumstances connected with a love-letter are said to have set in motion the agitation which resulted in the adoption of the new system.

The collection of Postage Stamps has done no small service in preserving many interesting details of this history, and a well-arranged collection furnishes, perhaps, its best illustration. How or when stamp collecting began cannot now be very satisfactorily settled. Probably many of the earlier stamps were already obsolete before they became members of the first collection. Individuals had long collected before collecting became popular. We next hear of it as the mania of the day. Occasional articles, some satirizing it, others commending it, some even attempting to tell something about it, begin to appear in the public press. The end of 1862 furnished the first magazine entirely devoted to the subject. Then began to appear numerous magazines, illustrated and systematic manuals, priced catalogues, carefully prepared monographs, elaborately designed albums, a host of advertising circulars. These contain, together with matters relating to stamp collecting, much valuable history, not only of stamps, of their employment, and of the processes of their manufacture, but also of the Post Office itself; have better informed collectors, and more seriously attached them to the pursuit which has taken to itself the name of Philately, and claims to rank with Numismatics as a branch of historical and antiquarian study.

Thus has grown up a literature, at least curious if not important. Much of it is very crude and transitory, some of it even scurrilous. Several lists have appeared attempting to catalogue it in the Stamp Magazines: “The Stamp Collector’s Monthly Gazette,” 1867, “The Philatelist,” 1867, 1869, and 1872, “The American Coin and Stamp Review,” 1871, “The American Journal of Philately,” 1871, “Deutsche Briefmarken Zeitung,” 1871, and “Moschkan’s Magazine,” 1872. None of them, however, give the titles in full. circular-addressed to such persons as were thought to possess further information about the subject brought many kind answers, and many of the works themselves. Some were returned "not found" by the Post Office. It is to be regretted that none sent to Germany were ever answered. From others was gathered the very unsatisfactory information that even the larger dealers and publishers have kept no files or even memoranda of their publications. Many of the magazines have been edited by mere boys. Most of the catalogues were priced, and, indeed, the trade in stamps has been the fruitful source of the larger number of these works. There are not wanting, however, works of much literary pretension and merit, some of them very elaborately and expensively illustrated.

Having, in the course of some fifteen years' pursuit of stamp collecting as a recreation, accumulated many of these works, from these, and the materials above mentioned, the original manuscript of the present work was originally compiled for private use. The numerous requests for copies thereof, or information therefrom, received since a copy was furnished the Boston Public Library at the request of the Librarian, have induced its revision and its present printing, under the title of "The Philatelic Library." From the nature of the task it is hardly possible that it will be found complete or free from errors.

The endeavor has been to catalogue alphabetically, by the names of the authors or publishers and by the countries and languages in which they were published, all works designed, in whole or part, for stamp collectors. This division includes American, Danish, Dutch, English, French, German, Italian, and Spanish publications. The full title, the names of the author, printer, and publisher, when known, the months and numbers of each magazine, the number and size of the pages, and the place and date of publication of each work, are given. Explanatory notes have been added. Since the abolition of the paper duty, and the manufacture of paper by machinery, the terms folio, quarto, octavo, &c., do not give any adequate idea of the real size of a book; the size of the pages is therefore given in inches. The titles are copied with their original abbreviations and punctuation. All words printed or begun with capitals in the originals are commenced with a capital letter. For the variations that may have occurred the compiler and not his printer is responsible. As all the works were not at hand, such as are not in our collection are indicated, those we have not seen, by a star (*), those we have seen but do not possess, by the double dagger (‡), or such information is conveyed by the note. Every page not so marked may be understood to be in our possession. Blank spaces have uniformly been left for such details as we could not furnish.

In the second part are enumerated the less important Price or Packet Lists, Circulars, Advertisements, &c. Though far from complete, it is inserted to give an idea of the extent of the business of stamp selling. The third part consists of references to works and articles in periodicals and newspapers, relating to Stamp Collecting, the History of Stamps, the History of Postal Reform and Cheap Postage, the History of the Post Office, Postal Guides and Periodicals, Postage Stamp Games, Music, and Photographs.

It is hoped that the Library may prove a welcome guide to collectors of stamp literature, and may not be without historical interest to those interested in curious publications or the history of postal matters.

THE PHILATELICAL LIBRARY.

PART I.

I. AMERICAN.

   Colored paper cover, &c. Same as Brown's third edition, q. v., No. 39. There is no first or second edition of Andrus.

   Colored paper cover, printed in black, with four illustrations. No title-page. Heading on seventh page has 1873, Fourth Edition. Previous pages are Preface, Money Table, Stamp Dealers' Directory, three pages of illustrations, and List of Post Cards.

   Colored paper cover, printed in black, with four illustrations. No title-page. Heading on the sixth page has 1874, Fourth Edition. Previous pages same as before, but two pages of illustrations.

D. A. K. Andrus, Dealer in Curiosities.

Rockford, 1872–4.

Each number has a colored paper cover, and four to eight pages of advertisements. Title-page and Index to Volume I. This is not strictly a stamp paper, a large portion of it being devoted to other curiosities.

8. Appleton, D. & Co. Album for Postage Stamps, American and Foreign.

New York: D. Appleton & Company. 143 & 145 Broadway, m.dccc.lxiv. (pp. × .)

New York, 1864.

This Album is said to have been issued in 1863. It contains a catalogue of the arms of various countries, and is ruled in squares. The "Philatelist" says, ruled in red ink. All copies I have seen bear the above date, and are ruled in blue.

9. Author not known. The Stamp Dealers' and Collectors' Journal.

Mentioned in the Lists in the "Gazette" and the "Philatelist," but as "having been said to have been published;" by whom, when, or where, not known.

10. Author not known. The American Postage Stamp Journal.

There is a rather caustic review of this in "Wheeler's Postage Stamp Reporter," March, 1872, but no particulars of its author, publisher, or place of abode are given.

This is mentioned in the List of Stamp Publications of the "American Coin and Stamp Review," August, 1871. It was first mentioned by S. A. Taylor in his "Record," in February, in a caustic criticism; but he now informs me that it never was published, and that he reviewed it beforehand for a joke, and that Balch is a reporter on the "Boston Advertiser."

12. B. & P., Correspondence, Price 25 cents. No. I. Box 172, Jacksonville, Ill. (1 p. 7½ x 11.)

Jacksonville, 187–.

This is a directory of stamp dealers, &c. No publisher's name.

Jacksonville, 187–.

This is another stamp dealers' directory. No publisher's name.

New York, 1872.

Colored cover. This catalogue embraces only about a page of stamps, to be sold in lots.
15. BAUM, Norris & Co., Baum's Complete Stamp Dealers' Directory, containing a complete list of all dealers in the United States, together with the principal ones of Europe, and a list of Philatelic Publications. Compiled and published by Baum, Norris & Co., Syracuse, N.Y. Syracuse: Hitchcock & Tucker, Printers and Binders. 1873. (11 pp. 3½ x 5½.)

Syracuse, 1873.

Colored paper cover, with four illustrations, and Baum's "Complete Stamp Dealers' Directory, including a list of Philatelic Publications."

Vol. 1, Nos. 1-4, May, June, and September, 1872, and January, 1873. (4 Nos., 16 pp. 6 x 9½.)

Syracuse, 1872-3.

Chicago, 1874.

Title-page, with two illustrations. No cover. The first edition is Alfred Edwards & Co.'s Price List, q. v.

Chicago, 1874.

Title-page, but no cover or illustrations.

19. BEIFELD & BELL, The Western Philatelist. Chicago, Beifeld & Bell. or J. Beifeld, P. O. Box 384.

Vol. I, Nos. 1-3 Dec., 1872, Jan. and Feb., 1873; Beifeld & Bell. No. 4, April, 1873; No. 5, March, 1874; No. 6, April, 1874; No. 7, June, 1874. Still publishing. (7 Nos., 28 pp. 5½ x 8½.)

Chicago, 1872-3-4.

§20. BEIFELD, J., Improved Postage Stamp Album. Spaces for 2000 Stamps. Including new issues and new countries, such as Curacao, Surinam, Iceland, Guatemala, Deccan, Hungary, Portuguese Indies, &c. Price 50 cents. Chicago: Joseph Beifeld, P. O. Box 384, Chicago, Illinois. (pp. 6½ x 9½ obl.)

Chicago, 1874.

*21. BOOTHBY, DAVID N., Catalogue. 507 Ellis St., San Francisco. (pp. x .)

San Francisco, 1874.

Mr. Boothby writes: "My first edition was issued several years ago, and I cannot procure one." July, 1874.

San Francisco, 1873.

This publication was so advertised, and is in the List of the "A. C. and S. Review;" but Boysen writes, it was never issued, as he changed the name to "The American Boys' and Girls' Monthly," of which two numbers were issued, March and April, 1871, making sixteen pages. The copy sent me is certainly not a stamp paper.

This is D. Cameron's catalogue, with Birt, Williams, & Co.'s name written in. See No. 42.

Vol. 1., Nos. 1—3, Jan. to March, with supplement in April, 1872. (3 Nos., 16 pp. 6½×9¼.) Quebec, 1872.

Revived and continued by the International Stamp Co., q. v., No. 76.

No cover or title-page.

Colored paper cover, printed in black. No title-page, but heading has "from 1840 to 1867, inclusive."

No title-page or cover.

Colored paper cover, printed in two colors, with four illustrations. No title-page. Frontispiece of fifteen colored illustrations. Heading also dated September, 1871.

Colored paper cover, printed in two colors, with four illustrations. No title-page. Heading on seventh page is dated 1872. Previous pages are, Preface, Money Table, Stamp Dealers' Directory, and four pages of illustrations.

Note—W. P. Brown in 1871 published his second Price Catalogue. The form was novel, and has been adopted by several other dealers, for whom they were published, with their names and addresses on the cover. The addition of new issues from time to time necessitated several editions. Brown published the second and third, and Andrus, who purchased the type, &c., the later, editions. There is no first edition. The following dealers, and editions issued by each, are known to the author:

- Andrus, 3d, 4th, 5th, & 6th.
- Brown, 2d, 3d, & 4th.
- Calder, 3d, 4th, 5th, & 6th.
- Earlandson, 4th, 5th, & 6th.
- Foreign Stamp Co., 6th.
- Globe Stamp Co., 4th, 5th, & 6th.
- Hammond & Brown, 4th.
- Hansen, 6th.
- Jagger, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, & 6th.
- Kerr & Abel, 4th.
- Kerr, S. R., 6th.
- Leach, 3d, 4th, 5th, & 6th.
- Smith & Blanchard, 4th.
- Yeumans, H. H., 4th.

"New York, 1873.

Colored paper cover, &c. Same as Andrus's fourth edition, q. v., No. 4.

32. Brown, W. P., Die KURIOSITI KABINET. Published by William P. Brown, Nassau Street, NU YORK.

Vol. I., Nos. 1, 12, Sept., 1870, to Aug., 1871, 48 pp. Vol. II., Nos. 1, 2, 1872, and Jan., 1873, 8 pp. (14 Nos., 56 pp. edition, $6\times 10\frac{1}{2}$) (14 Nos., 56 pp. edition, $5\frac{1}{2}\times 8\frac{1}{2}$)

"New York, 1870-3.

New York, 1870-3.

No title-pages or index. The first page of each number of Volume I. is printed phonetically. Though mostly devoted to stamps, there are various other curiosities treated of; and the paper itself is as great a curiosity as any.

33. Bruce, W. Harry, Descriptive Price Catalogue of the Postage Stamps of All Nations. Price 15 cents. Illustrated with nearly One Hundred and Fifty Colored Illustrations. Published by The Foreign Stamp Depot, St. John, New Brunswick. (34 pp. $5\frac{1}{2}\times 8\frac{1}{2}$)

THE PHILATELICAL LIBRARY.

The previous editions, I am informed, are the same as Fisher's Album, q. v., No. 59.

This magazine, first noticed by the "Stamp Collectors' Examiner," July, 1865, and then by the "Stamp Collectors' Magazine," Vol. III., p. 126, which seems to have quoted the former, is stated to have been issued as above, for the modest price of three dollars per annum. Nothing more is ascertainable about it, and it would appear to have been an unrealized dream, if not worse.

Colored paper cover, &c. Same as Brown's third edition, q. v., No. 30. There is no first or second edition of Leach.

of Philatelic Publications. Published by J. W. Scott & Co., Dealers in Foreign Stamps, 75 and 77 Nassau Street, New York City, U. S. and 46 Leadenhall Street, Colored cover. Title-page. Merely an advertisement of Scott's publications.

This work was extensively advertised to be printed by subscription. Mr. Scott writes that it was only a proposition, and did not seem to meet favor, and was never begun.

Mr. Scott informs me that this work will surely be issued, and showed me parts of it already printed.

Note.—This is hardly an album, but consists of a title-page, separate cards of Bristol board, plain or tinted, with or without a printed border, sheets of frames of various sizes for the stamps, and the names of the countries in sheets; the frames and names to be cut out and pasted upon the boards.

First Edition, 1868, a large-sized 4to.
Second Edition, 1870, thoroughly revised and enlarged. (pp. 7×11 1/4 obI.)

Colored paper cover, &c. Same as Andrus's fourth edition, y. v., No. 4.

Title-page, but no cover or illustrations.

No title-page or index. No. 9 and supplement printed at Wm. M. Wright’s Printing and Publishing Office. Title-page and index of four pages, printed by J. W. Scott & Co.

Mr. Taylor informs me this Album had no title-page, but was sold under the above name. The “Philatelist” says it is little more than a scrap-book.

Colored paper cover, printed in black. No illustrations. This is W. P. Brown’s second edition, with cover and title-page printed by Taylor.

This is the title-page and three pages of a catalogue, the publication of which was discontinued.

No title-pages or index. This was the earliest American stamp paper. No. 2, March, 1864, Montreal, was printed, but Mr. Taylor informs me, only five or six copies were ever issued, and the rest destroyed. An extra of two pages was issued in March, 1866. After No. 33 the issue was irregular: No. 31, May, 1868; No. 35, May, 1869; No. 36, Sept., 1869; Nos. 37 and 38, without date, in 1870; No. 39, Feb., 1871; No. 40, Dec., 1871; No. 41, July, 1872. Montreal numbers were printed by Daniel Rose, 277 Notre Dame Street. Nos. 1 and 2, Albany, were printed by C. Van Beunhuyzen; Nos. 3-8, by J. Munsell; Nos. 9-28, by W. H. Keenan.

Montreal numbers are 5½×8½. Nos. 1-20 are 5½×8½. Nos. 21-24 are 5½×8½. Nos. 25-38 are 5½×8½. Nos. 39-41 are 7×9.

397. Young & Stockall. Supplementary List. (Date.) (1 pp. 5¼ × 8½.)

See note: No name. Have only seen April, 1873.

Note.—Nos. 393-397 give the changes in the title of the catalogue issued by this firm. Messrs. Young & Stockall inform me, "We commenced business as stamp dealers in July, 1862, when we issued a large priced catalogue, in two sheets, describing about one thousand varieties, which we retained, with alterations, until the early part of 1864, when we commenced to issue catalogues in their present form. In June, 1865, we commenced to issue them monthly, down to December, 1867. We then issued them every other month, till December, 1889, since which time we have issued them irregularly: having two thousand five hundred printed at a time, and add new issues from time to time, in a "Supplementary List." When we use up the issue, we have a copy thoroughly revised, &c., and a new batch printed." They also note the following as issued:—

1864. Months not given. I have seen only Dec., 16 pp.
1865. Months not given. " " " " *June, *July, pp.;
THE PHILATELICAL LIBRARY.

1872. May Aug., same as May, date written on.
1873. Jan., 34 pp., only.
1874. May, 36 pp., only. Not dated.

There seems to be some confusion in these dates, however, as I have numbers for April and August, 1868, and for February, 1869, instead of those given.

*448. Moens. Les Timbres-Poste Illustres. (Text issued separately.)

B. Large paper ed., ( " " " 6×9.) " " " Colored paper covers. Title-page.

Note. — (Nos. 445-449.) I have catalogued only two editions and supplement of Moens's "Manuel." In the "Timbre Poste" there are advertised four editions, viz.:

Manuel du Collectionneur, etc., en 180 green paper (No. 443).
" " " 2e édition en 120 (No. 444).
" " " supplément de la 2e édition en 120 (No. 445).
" " " 2e édition en 120., 1863 ( ).
" " " 4e " 180., green paper.

Though the last is repeated in several numbers of the "Timbre Poste," it seems to be a mistake for the first edition. Les Illustrations advertise the third edition as to have references to the plates. Moens writes that the third edition is the second and supplement bound together, and the fourth is the text of the Illustrations. I have, therefore, omitted the third and fourth editions. The illustrations are advertised as,

Les Illustrations, etc., Plates in 12 Nos. (No. 446).
Les Timbres Illustrés " 17 " (" 447).
Les Timbres Poste Illustrés, Text of Les Illustrations (No. 448).
" " " Text & Plates, 2e édition (No. 449).
" " " large edition (No. 449).
Postage Stamps Illustrated, " " " English edition (No. 301).
" " " same, Stafford Smith, & Co. (No. 302).
" " " Text of Les Illustrations, English (No. 301).

Of these, I have not been able to ascertain whether the French text was in reality issued separately or not, though the English, which I have not noted, was. All the others I have seen and noted, though none are marked second edition.

Colored paper cover. Title-page. Prefatory notices are signed E. Régnard.

I have been unable to ascertain whether this is the first edition referred to in Poitrquet’s Catalogue, published by La Croix, or not. If so, it was the first catalogue of stamps ever published, and was issued on Dec. 21, 1861; otherwise, La Croix published the first edition of his on that date.

Colored paper cover. Title-page. No illustrations. A note by the publisher, pasted upon the cover, speaks of the first edition as issued Dec. 21, 1861, which was the first catalogue ever published.

Each number has a title-page, illustrated with fac-simile of New Granada stamp, and is accompanied by a number of the following catalogue, and is now publishing.
